ABOUT US

As business owners, we’ve seen firsthand how the wrong workspace can stifle creativity and halt collaboration. Distracting noise. Interrupted meetings. Zero privacy.

While our business boomed and our office bustled, we noticed that our team’s productivity—and morale—were taking a nosedive.

When your team (and biggest investment) doesn’t have the space to do their best work, that becomes your number one problem to solve.

We knew that we needed to create meeting rooms that support every type of working style—from the quiet-seeking focus roles and the social, connection-driven ones, too.

The problem? Every soundproof booth on the market would take months to arrive. And we couldn’t grin and bear it that long. So we designed the modular meeting rooms we couldn’t find anywhere else.

As you look for innovative ways to accommodate hybrid work and bring focus to your office, we’d be honored to be part of your journey.

Sustainable, Through and Through

Inbox Booths minimize emissions and waste from production to shipping.

We use highly recyclable materials like aluminum and glass. Our engineered sound panels are made of recycled plastic bottles. The booths are efficiently flat-packed in a recyclable cardboard crate.

Through our recycling program we aim to keep every Inbox Booth out of the landfill. Learn more about our recycling program on our website.
